

* * *

Armed with these cultural and humanitarian ties, we seek a just and lasting peace in the Middle East. You may have noticed that our actions precede our words towards that end. You must have followed up our persistent attempts to consolidate the peace efforts. We wanted to give every effort a chance.

(From a speech at the banquet given by the Prime Minister of Baden-Wurtemberg, April 1, 1976)